Thomas Funk is a 67-year-old resident of Lansing, Michigan and he does not believe it is safe to go out to play, even with his children at age 9 and 16. Funk's wife, who is 45-years-old, has a high blood pressure, so he was forced to pick up their two children, who are staying home today, and take them to work. When they arrived, they were greeted by a group of over a dozen protesters outside of his office and they were very upset that Funk made his kids go to work and left his wife to be alone. Hundreds of people showed up at a Lansing, Michigan, office of Republican state Rep. Thomas Funk to protest his decision to stay home from work today, take his two kids to work and leave his wife alone at home. ADVERTISEMENT Thanks for watching! Visit Website The protest was organized by a group called "Black Lives Matter Lansing," and the participants were carrying signs that read "I am the reason we can't go out and play!" and "no one dies for racism". According to ABC-7 News, Funk is a member of the Michigan Legislature and a bill that would require public schools to be closed on the third Monday of each month is currently sitting in a committee, so he felt like he could make the decision to do what he felt was right and help "make a difference in the lives of our children." Here is the video of Funk leaving his office, carrying his two kids in tow: ADVERTISEMENT Thanks for watching! Visit Website ADVERTISEMENT Thanks for watching!
